

Addenda

(Last update: 16 Dec 2008)

(Note: these addenda, unlike the errata, are based on information obtained after the book was published, although there is some overlap. See also the “Lineage Fragments” folder.)

p. 15: Adding to the list of people whose independent work has been included, I also thank Alice Hobbs, Mary Lou Hazelrigg, Earlene Davis Porter, Greg Hazelrigg, Stephen Lawson, Vicki Watkins, Vanita White Hazelrigg, and Zadeea Harris for their generous participation in the on-going project. Several of the additions described below (as well as many of the errata) are due to their efforts and sharing.

p. 42, line 6: Nathaniel Walter was son of Rev. Nehemiah and Sarah (Mather) Walter, and grandson of Rev. Increase Mather and Maria Cotton.

p. 42, lines 27-28: Thomas (b. 2 May 1745, Charlestown, MA) was son of Rev. Hull Abbott (b. 15 Jun 1702) and Mary Bradstreet (b. 9 Sep 1703).

p. 54, first paragraph: A major first step in improved historiography of the period is John Adamson’s The Noble Revolt (London: Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 2007), which concentrates on the 18 months to January 1642 and recognizes the continuing role of AH.

p. 233, 3rd paragraph: needs to be amended in light of Addendum for p. 330, line 23

p. 241, lines 17ff: John⁷ Franklin Hazelrigg was born in 1870, not 1871; thus, his birth came a little more than three years before his father’s will. He served in the US Army as a cook, from 15 Jun 1899 to 14 Jun 1902; buried in Salisbury (NC) National Cemetery. Also see larger addendum.

p. 244, lines 19-20: Frank⁹ Benjamin (but 1910 census of Washington County, OH, says Benj. F, as does 1923 city directory of Seattle); both he and wife Virginia, plus dau. Grace, were alive 1923 in Seattle

Hazelrigg (e.g., as proprietor of a resort at Olympia Springs, KY); thus, it appears he changed his first name. His death certificate says he was born 17 Jan 1840, but 1839 is probably the correct year, at Aarons Run, Bath County; he died in Lexington, Fayette County, 28 Oct 1913, and was buried in the Peeled Oak Cemetery, Bath County. - p. 520, bottom of first full paragraph: Green Hazelrigg and family appeared in the 1860 (not 1870) census of Callaway County, MO. The household also appears in the 1844 MO state census and the 1850 federal census, both finding him/them in the Cote sans Dessein district or township. Green was probably b. c1800, in VA (not KY). He and Lucy had at least six children, all girls, of whom four were named in 1850: Betsey J (17 MO), Hetty

A (15 MO), Catharine (12 MO), and Margaret (10 MO). The household included also a boy (6 MO), Augustus Bush, perhaps a son of a daughter who did not survive. Green might descend from the branch who moved into Wood County, VA (now WV), shortly before 1800.
